

Now that the mold is made, Let HUNTER Handle It

Your parts are many and varied... so are our moldhandling systems!

Hunter offers foundrymen the solution to that age-old problem of moldhandling. The most sophisticated and highly automated molding machines, whether ours or another brand, will not maximize the production of your operation, unless the moldhandling; transport, pouring and cooling, prior to reaching the shakeout are seamless in operation and match your production capabilities.

Hunter moldhandling is used in many countries where metal casting occurs. Our lines are in use with other brands of molding machines and the results have always been found most satisfactory.

Hunter pioneered automated matchplate molding machinery, that's a fact. Another fact is the highly productive outcome foundries realize from the use of Hunter moldhandling lines on ALL their machines.
